THE MEXICAN MENACE

In discussing the Mexico situation, the Louisville Courier-Journal thinks Great Britain is equally interested with the United States in ending the war. In part it says:

"We should take no chances in the lottery of war. At this moment the government of the United States should be in conference with the government of Great Britain how best to deal with a situation most threatening to both.

"England has as great territorial interests in North America as we have. In British Honduras she lies as we do in Texas and Arizona directly alongside of Mexico. Perhaps as many of her citizens live and as much of her money is embarked in Mexico as we ourselves can claim for our stake in the stability and order of that perturbed country. Setting aside the ties of kindred blood and speech and institutions, there is no reason why we may not invite England to join us in putting Mexico's house in order, in the event that, with continued anarchy and hopeless chaos, the conditions should become, as they almost are intolerable.

"If we undertake this work alone we shall play into the hands of every Mexican faction. Each, driven to its last resort, looks to American intervention to pull its chestnuts out of the fire. Intervention on our part will be but the signal for a union of all parties against the hated Gringos. That means not only war, but endless and aimless war.

"We want of Mexico nothing except good neighborhood. This can only be attained by such a concert with England as shall carry with it at one and the same time friendly pressure and irresistible force. The case is so clear that it ought to make its own argument and be convincing.

"The refusal of the Wilson administration to recognize the Huerta regime was and is, and will probably continue to be wholly justified. In his Latin-American statement the president proclaimed that his government would seek to lay the basis for intercourse with Latin American countries in the principle and the case only of those set up on orderly processes, and "not upon arbitrary or irregular force." He likewise stated that the American government "would prefer those who act in the interest of peace and honor, who protect private rights and respect the restraints of constitutional provisions." Nothing was said about the "divinity," or the "binding obligations" of the Monroe Doctrine—and wisely so—because the Monroe Doctrine has become an offense to every self-respecting Latin-American. He does not need our "protection." He resents our patronage. Thus far, "hands off" in Mexico has most favorably impressed him. Intervention would therefore not only mean war, long and bloody, but it would drive from us the dawning good will of the whole Spanish-American population dwelling south of Mexico.

"Assuredly a man such as Woodrow Wilson seems to be must and will not allow his administration to purvey to ignorant demagogism, or his countrymen to be victimized by a mistaken sense of national vanity. "A stitch in time saves nine." England has as much in issue as we have. Let us invite England to assume her share of responsibility."

ONLY A PINT OF CLOTHES

H. M. Logan, chief of police of the city of Greeley, Colo., has begun a crusade the object of which is to compel the women of Greeley to array themselves in what he considers a proper amount of raiment. A young woman who appeared upon the streets of Greeley in what was termed the latest Paris togery was stopped in her evening promenade by the police officer, who tapped her on the shoulder, with the admonition:

"Young lady, you run home and put on some more clothes."

"Sir, this is the very latest gown obtainable," the fair one indignantly replied.

"That may be true," answered the doughty chief of police, "but there is not enough of it."

"It reaches to my ankles, as you can plainly see," persisted the argumentative fair one.

"Yes, but there is nothing under it. You would be more modest in silk tights. Run along now. We don't want any 'September Morns' in Greeley."

Chief Logan saw that she obeyed, and said that in the future he proposes to see that Greeley women wear sufficient clothing to minimize their fine points.

"It's getting worse and worse," he said indignantly. "I'm not boosting any lingerie manufacturers, either but they can't walk these streets tightly wrapped in a silk handkerchief and a haughty stare.

Some of them don't even wear a corset because it takes up too much room, while the large ones, who use a windless to lace and wind themselves into the straight-up-and-down stays, bulge out at the top and bottom like a charlatte russe running over.

"I'll bet a horse chestnut that the girl I sent home didn't have a pint of clothes on her. Yes, sir, a pint. That's the way to measure them. You could have wadded that latest creation into a pint or half-pint measure. Besides that, you could see through it. I know, because—well, I know."

In view of the fact that the mine tax assessment law is the law for which the big mining interests worked, any statement that such law tends to bar mining investment should certainly be accepted with several grains of salt.—Prescott Courier.

Every person in Graham county should take an interest in the county fair this fall. Begin now to get your exhibits together. Take it up and help boost it. It is one of the best advertisements the county can have.

From all reports there has been less hay spoiled in the valley this season than for several years past, and its quality is not equaled in any section of the country.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms?

Are they feverish, restless nervous irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt his mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. "HEART OF MY HEART"

(Inscribed to my sweetheart.)

"Heart of my heart," I am sighing,
For thine eyes so bonny and bright,
That while swift moments were flying,
Have filled my soul with their light.

And brought forth his hidden treasure
To place at the shrine of his love;
While his heart is filled with pleasure,
As with manna from Heaven above.

Falling in dreams of gladness
Throughout the slumbers of night,
Chasing away all sadness
With their gleams of golden light.

"Light of my soul," stop delaying;
Come shine with brightness on my brow;
While the call of my heart is praying
For the bright and blissful hour.

When our hearts are united as one,
Welded together in sweet love;
Till the voyage on earth is done;
We are wafted to the haven above.
—E uno qui amat.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

Shikaro Takomoto, Japanese passenger, has written to the Hon. S. Pacific Company, as follows:

"DEAR HON. S. PACIFIC:
"I residing in these Suisun City and question, please, do engineer 9:30 evening p. m. freight train necessary blow whistle with so long lasting of sounds for calling back end brake-man if five short whistle call would wake my baby and back end brake-man with same effect each departure? Many other trains at crossing raise same long night noises; cannot all lives be safe with less awaking of almost the dead?"

"Also recent time of late I travel with hon. employ in lovely electric lights pullman car "Aliena" and cannot find satisfactory place to lose my watch and American eagle ($10.00) for complete safety. Could not hon. pullman save 25c from every gentleman in lower berth rate financial condition by inserting in smoke room wash place, one small safe deposit box convenience (10c to porter upon arrival at destitution to leave key with it), so saving temptation of robbery under pillow.

"Thanking you for quiet relief to home and very grateful for travel safely.

Your truly,
SHIKARO TAKOMOTO,
Japanese Passenger."

The Southern Pacific has answered Takomoto and assured him that it will do all it can that "all lives be safe with less awaking of almost the dead."

Remarkable Cure for Dysentery

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers. Adv.-24 5t
